Prospectus dated May 1, 2017, as amended July 1, 2017

This supplement provides new information beyond that contained in the Prospectus. It should be retained and read in conjunction with the Prospectus.

I. CHANGES TO SUMMARY PROSPECTUSES FOR MYDESTINATION 2015 FUND, MYDESTINATION 2025 FUND, MYDESTINATION 2035 FUND, MYDESTINATION 2045 FUND AND MYDESTINATION 2055 FUND

The following disclosure is added to the “Principal Investment Strategies” section for each Fund:

- The Fund may invest up to 10% of its total assets in securities issued by investment companies other than the Select Funds, including exchange-traded funds (ETFs), to gain exposure to the asset classes included in the glide path.

In the “Principal Investment Risks” section for each Fund, the risk factor titled “Natural Resources Companies Risk” is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

- Natural Resources Companies and Commodities Risk: To the extent that the Fund has investment exposure to natural resources companies or commodities, the Fund will be exposed to certain risks associated with those industries or markets. Natural resources industries and commodities markets may be significantly affected by (often rapid) changes in supply of, or demand for, various natural resources and commodities. They may also be affected by changes in commodity prices, changes in interest rates and inflation rates, market speculation, international political and economic developments (such as political events affecting access to natural resources, acts of war and terrorism), environmental incidents, energy conservation, depletion of natural resources, the success of exploration projects and tax and other government regulations. The securities of companies in the natural resources sector may experience more price volatility than securities of companies in other industries, and the prices of commodities may experience volatility due to supply and demand disruptions in major producing or consuming regions.

In the “Principal Investment Risks” section for each Fund, the risk factor titled “Risks of Investing in Underlying Funds” is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

- Risk of Investing in Underlying Funds: Because the Fund indirectly pays a portion of the expenses incurred by the Select Funds and other investment companies in which it invests, in addition to paying its own expenses, the overall cost of investing in the Fund may be higher than investing in the individual Select Funds or other investment companies directly.

II. CHANGES TO SUMMARY PROSPECTUSES FOR CONSERVATIVE ALLOCATION FUND, BALANCED ALLOCATION FUND, GROWTH ALLOCATION FUND AND AGGRESSIVE ALLOCATION FUND

The following disclosure is added to the “Principal Investment Strategies” section for each Fund:

- The Fund may invest up to 10% of its total assets in securities issued by investment companies other than the Select Funds, including exchange-traded funds (ETFs), to gain exposure to the asset classes included in the table above.

The fourth bullet point in the “Principal Investment Strategies” section of each Fund is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

- The Fund will rebalance its assets from time to time to adjust for changes in the values of the underlying Select Funds or other investments and changes to the allocation targets.

In the “Principal Investment Risks” section for the Conservative Allocation Fund, Balanced Allocation Fund and Growth Allocation Fund, the risk factor titled “Natural Resources Companies Risk” is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

- Natural Resources Companies and Commodities Risk: To the extent that the Fund has investment exposure to natural resources companies or commodities, the Fund will be exposed to certain risks associated with those industries or markets. Natural resources industries and commodities markets may be significantly affected by (often rapid) changes in supply of, or demand for, various natural resources and commodities. They may also be affected by changes in commodity prices, changes in interest rates and inflation rates, market speculation, international political and economic developments (such as political events affecting access to natural resources, acts of war and terrorism), environmental incidents, energy conservation, depletion of natural resources, the success of exploration projects and tax and other government regulations. The securities of companies in the natural resources sector may experience more price volatility than securities of companies in other industries, and the prices of commodities may experience volatility due to supply and demand disruptions in major producing or consuming regions.

In the “Principal Investment Risks” section for each Fund, the risk factor titled “Risks of Investing in Underlying Funds” is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

- Risk of Investing in Underlying Funds: Because the Fund indirectly pays a portion of the expenses incurred by the Select Funds and other investment companies in which it invests, in addition to paying its own expenses, the overall cost of investing in the Fund may be higher than investing in the individual Select Funds or other investment companies directly.

Global Natural Resources Equity Fund

At its July 17, 2017 meeting, the Board of Trustees of GuideStone Funds approved a plan to liquidate and terminate the Global Natural Resources Equity Fund (the “Fund”), upon the recommendation of GuideStone Capital Management, LLC, the Fund’s investment adviser. As of August 16, 2017, the Fund will no longer accept new investments.

The Fund pursues its investment objective of seeking long-term capital appreciation by investing mainly (at least, and typically more than, 80% of its net assets, plus borrowings for investment purposes, if any) in equity securities, which may include stock, stock futures, rights, warrants or securities convertible into stock, of companies considered to be principally engaged in natural resources industries or that supply goods, technology and services to such companies. In connection with the liquidation, the Fund will depart from its stated investment objective, and may begin to do so immediately, as it begins to convert all portfolio securities to cash or cash equivalents in preparation for the final distribution(s) to shareholders.

The date of liquidation of the Fund is anticipated to be on or about September 22, 2017 (the “Liquidation Date”). Please note that you may exchange your shares of the Fund at net asset value at any time prior to the Liquidation Date for shares of the same class of another GuideStone Fund in accordance with the terms of the Fund’s prospectus. You also may redeem your shares of the Fund at any time prior to the Liquidation Date. The Fund will distribute cash or cash equivalents pro rata to all remaining shareholders who have not previously exchanged or redeemed all of their shares on or about the Liquidation Date. Shareholders remaining in the Fund just prior to the Liquidation Date may bear increased transaction costs incurred in connection with the disposition of the Fund’s portfolio holdings. Such transaction costs would reduce distributable net capital gains, if any. Once distribution is complete, the Fund will terminate.

The redemption, sale or liquidation of your Fund shares will be a taxable event, on which you will realize a taxable gain (or loss), to the extent that your tax basis in the shares is lower (or higher) than the liquidation proceeds that you receive. The exchange of your shares for shares of another GuideStone Fund will also be a taxable event. If you own Fund shares in a tax-deferred account, such as an individual retirement account, 401(k) plan or 403(b) account, distribution to the account of the liquidation proceeds will not be subject to current income taxation. You should consult your tax adviser about the Fund’s liquidation and its tax consequences to you, if any. You should also consult your tax adviser before initiating any exchange or redemption of Fund shares.
