Important changes to Invesco Money Market Fund

The Board of Trustees (the "Board") of Invesco Money Market Fund ("the Fund") recently approved the repositioning of the Fund as a government money market fund and will implement the following changes:

- Rename the Fund Invesco Government Money Market Fund;
- Reposition from a prime money market fund to a government money market fund;
- Adopt a principal investment strategy that requires the Fund to invest at least 99.5% of its total assets in cash, Government Securities, and repurchase agreements collateralized by cash or Government Securities;
- Remove prime money market fund investment strategies and risks;

Note that the Fund's investment objective and CUSIPs will not change. A prospectus supplement describing these changes in detail was filed and distributed to shareholders on Dec. 18, 2015. Subject to regulatory review, changes to the Fund will take effect on or around June 28, 2016.

Why are we implementing these changes?

In July 2014, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) announced new money market fund reforms. These reforms, intended to further strengthen the resiliency of funds during times of stress, will take effect Oct. 14, 2016 and influence the shape of the money market fund industry for years to come.

Under the new rules, government money market funds will be permitted to transact at a stable, or constant, net asset value (CNAV) of $1.00 per share and must invest at least 99.5% of their assets in cash, U.S. Government Securities (as defined under the federal securities laws), and/or repurchase agreements collateralized by cash or U.S. Government Securities. Invesco does not intend to implement liquidity fees and redemption gates on government funds. However, the Board reserves the right to impose a liquidity fee or redemption gate in the future upon prior notice to shareholders.

How will these changes affect the Fund's investment objective, positioning or strategy?

The Fund's investment objective, which seeks to provide current income consistent with preservation of capital and liquidity, will not change.

The Fund's strategy and name will change and be consistent with its new position as a government money market fund. Under the new investment strategy, the Fund will invest at least 99.5% of its total assets in cash, Government Securities, and repurchase agreements collateralized by cash or Government Securities. Government Security generally means any security issued or guaranteed as to principal or interest by the U.S. Government or certain of its agencies or instrumentalities or any certificate of deposit of any of the foregoing.

Are any changes being made to the investment philosophy?

No, the Invesco Global Liquidity investment team's philosophy will not change. For more than 30 years, our team with its deep industry knowledge and investment expertise has considered safety of utmost importance for all of our money market funds. Our conservative investment philosophy has always focused on providing safety, liquidity and yield - in that order - to our money market fund investors.
