

Year-End Dividend Postings

Due to high levels of dividend and related price activity currently being processed at year-end, it is possible that some client accounts may experience short-term valuation discrepancies as these processes complete.

Please contact your relationship manager if you have questions around such discrepancies you see.